

Resources

Follow this link for more information on this experiment:
<https://therootsproject.co.uk/resources/make-natural-inks>

Method

- 1 Collect petals from any colourful flowers you can find and place them in a bowl
- 2 Grind the petals with a pestle
- 3 Cover the petals with boiling water (just enough to cover them)
- 4 Leave the mixture overnight and then strain the petal tea through a cheese cloth
- 5 The mixture is now ready to use!
- 6 Encourage the children to dip their paintbrushes in the ink and paint a picture with their flower ink

Learning Outcomes

- 1 Learners will develop an understanding of...
- 2 Learners will develop basic knowledge of...
- 3 Learners will ...

The Bumbles of Honeywood is a set of books, activities, and merchandise to introduce children to important life skills such as entrepreneurial skills, creativity, teamwork, determination and self-confidence.
www.thebumblesofhoneywood.co.uk

Please leave some feedback about how you, and the children in your class, found the activity:

Evaluation

The Bumbles of Honeywood is a set of books, activities, and merchandise to introduce children to important life skills such as entrepreneurial skills, creativity, teamwork, determination and self-confidence.
www.thebumblesofhoneywood.co.uk

